Peers con OneNote

The screenshot shows the OneNote application interface. The title bar indicates the user is 'Elisabetta Nanni' and the notebook is 'Musica e Arte in Onenote'. The ribbon is set to 'Home' with various text and drawing tools visible. The left sidebar shows a search bar and a list of pages, including 'A distanza con il Mer...' and 'A lezione di musica!'. The main content area displays a page titled 'Merge Cube' dated 'mercoledì 6 maggio 2020 14:37'. It features a photograph of a cube with a complex geometric pattern and a large Merge logo. To the right of the photo, there is a text prompt: 'Crea un account su: <https://login.mergeedu.com/login>'. Below this, a screenshot of the Merge 'OBJECT VIEWER' interface is shown, displaying a sidebar with navigation options like 'Home', 'Classes', 'Teachers', 'Students', and 'Resources'. The main area of the viewer shows 'My Objects' with two items: 'Corona.glb GMR Q2L' and 'pinguino2 NVQ 6W6'. An 'Upload' button is visible in the top right corner of the viewer interface.
